Dear Ms. Bysiewicz:

It has been brought to my attention that your office did not receive our response to your letter of September 28, 2005 requesting information from our company on our optical scan election tabulation equipment.

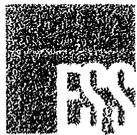

Please find enclosed with this letter a copy of that letter, dated October 13, 2005. I do apologize for any confusion this may have caused and sincerely hope that you will accept this copy as our request to participate in your review of products.

Sincerely,
